Meeting the challenges of Agriculture and Forestry with Commissioner Bob Odom

Just-in-time inventory control and other cost-cutting measures have enabled the Department of Agriculture and Forestry to return to schools and other institutions 62 percent of the funds collected to warehouse and distribute federal food commodities, said Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Bob Odom.

Many bulk food commodities such as beef, chicken and cheeses, are available for schools and other child nutrition programs from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's surplus food program. The Louisiana Department of Agriculture and Forestry is responsible for the record keeping, storage and distribution of the foods.

Following the Louisiana Legislature's cut in money available for the state's Food Distribution Program, the department began a $3.00-a-case handling charge for the program.

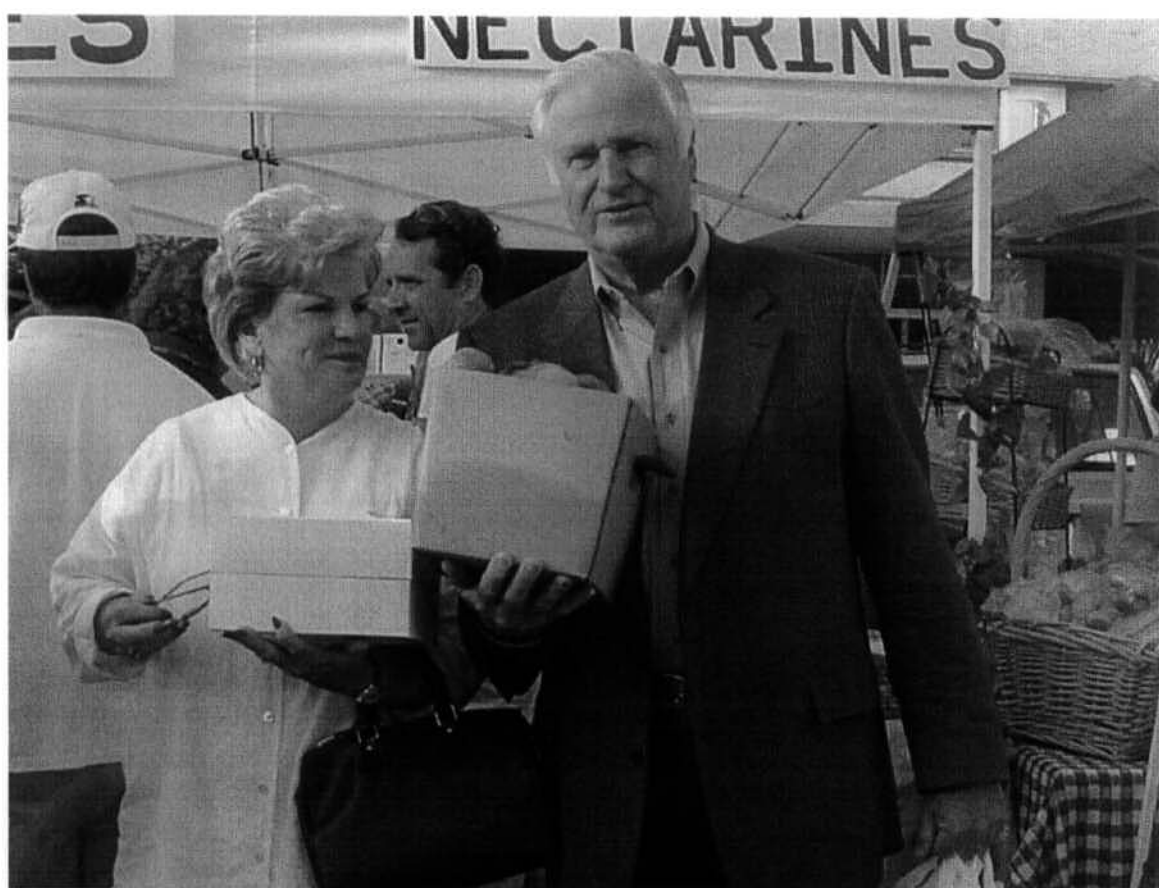

As a result of administrative changes in handling the food, the department will return $1.27 million of $2.06 million charged to the schools and other institutions, Odom said.

"A key factor in our ability to make this large refund is our internet tie-in to all user institutions. We are now surveying each institution for their precise needs of many commodity items before placing our orders with USDA," Odom said.

"This in turn allows us to keep more accurate data on inventory requirements. We know what they want and when they want it. This enables us to rotate our inventory much faster and reduce our storage costs.

"Although the USDA permits the foods to be stored for six months, we are rotating our foods out in about a month and a half," Odom said.

Odom recently informed all participating institutions of the refunds and pledged to continue to implement cost-saving measures in an effort to realize similar expense saving in the coming year.

Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Bob Odom and his wife, Millie, enjoy buying fresh produce on a trip to the Red Stick Farmers Market in Baton Rouge. August 5-11 was proclaimed Louisiana Farmers Market Week in honor of the farmers who use agriculture to link the rural and urban communities of the state.

Farmers Market Week proclaimed

In conjunction with National Farmers Market Week, Gov. Mike Foster has proclaimed the week of August 5-11 as Louisiana Farmers Market Week, Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry Bob Odom announced Monday.

"Farmers markets are a vital link between our rural and urban communities in Louisiana," Odom said. "They offer an opportunity for city dwellers to meet the actual producers of the food they eat, and are also a boost to local economies."

In Louisiana, commercial vegetables and fruits, many of which are sold at farmers markets, add nearly $100 million to the state's economy. These numbers don't include the fresh pecans, sweet potatoes, seafood, ornamental plants and shrubs, prepared foods and jams often found at local farmers markets.

Odom said, "Many communities find it rewarding to invest in farmers markets as a component of economic development, while consumers benefit from the freshness, quality and wide selection of locally grown products."

Fruits and vegetables are a large and vital part of the Louisiana agricultural economy as well. In 2000, there were 2,275 Louisiana citizens growing 45 different vegetables worth $74.3 million, and 548 producers of 11 different fruits worth $20.6 million. In addition there were 281 sweet potato growers with a crop valued at $57 million.

There are approximately 20 farmers markets in the state offering consumers fresh produce in cities and towns like Shreveport, Baton Rouge, Opelousas, Bastrop, Tallulah and New Orleans. Other communities have plans to open farmers markets in the coming year.

"Their popularity is definitely on the rise and I don't think it will wane anytime in the near future," Odom predicted.

"My wife and I enjoy shopping at farmers markets any chance we get. In fact, I usually have to make several trips to the car to put away all of her purchases," Odom joked. "With a selection of some of the finest fruits and vegetables grown anywhere in the world, it just makes sense to shop at Louisiana farmers markets."

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Ann Veneman observed recently that one in four farmers markets in the country contribute their surplus to gleaning programs that distribute food to local homeless shelters, community pantries and other charitable organizations that feed the hungry.

This year, 16 Louisiana farmers markets are participating in the USDA's Seniors Farmers Market Nutrition pilot program, which provides $20 in coupons for low-income senior citizens. The Tallulah Farmers Market is part of the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Farmers Market Nutrition Program.

"I encourage everyone to visit their local farmers market during Louisiana Farmers Market Week and support the small farmers who help make sure we have an abundant supply of fresh food for our families," Odom said.

Lagniappe Cookery... Louisiana Figs

Figs have no fat, saturated fat, cholesterol or sodium, figs help you meet today's Dietary Guidelines established by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Figs are deliciously portable. 1/2 cup of figs provide as much calcium as 1/2 cup milk.

Italian Fig Cookies

*2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cup Crisco
*10 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 teaspoons baking powder
pinch of salt
8 cups flour
Cream sugar and Crisco. Add eggs two at a time and mix well by hand. Add vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together and add to egg mixture, mixing a little at a time by hand. Dough should be firm, but not hard and not sticky. Roll as thin as possible on a floured board into a rectangle. Place figs along front edge of dough. Gently lift with a broad, flat knife or spatula and roll. Trim dough off along back edge but making sure there a seam underneath. Cut at an angle to desired length. Place on greased cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees until golden brown.

Filling:

*3 quarts Fig Preserves, drained
1 lb. raisins, ground
*1 cup finely chopped Louisiana pecans
2 teaspoons black pepper
1 tablespoon ground cloves
Add fig preserves, mashed or ground; add pecans, black pepper, ground cloves.

Icing:

1/2 stick oleo
*3/4 box powdered sugar
small amount evaporated milk
Mix together until consistency of condensed milk. Spread over cookies after they have cooled.

Mrs. LeBlanc's Fig Ice Cream

*1 quart whole milk, plus 1 cup
1 can condensed milk
1 lg. can evaporated milk
1 pt. whipping cream
*1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons vanilla
*3 cups fresh Louisiana peeled & mashed figs
Pour all into a freezer container and stir well. It is not necessary to use a mixer. Freeze as directed for your particular freezer.

Fresh Fig Loaf

*4 large eggs, beaten
*4 tablespoons brown sugar
*1/2 cup Peanut oil
1 1/2 cup cake flour, sifted
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
*1 lb. fresh Louisiana figs, peeled and chopped
1 tablespoons rum
1/2 cup Louisiana pecan halves
Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line bottom of 9"x5" loaf pan with wax paper cut to fit exactly. Butter wax paper and sides of pan. Mix eggs with sugar. Add oil and whisk well. Sift flour with baking powder and soda. Add in thirds to egg batter. Beat well. Stir in figs, rum and pecans. Pour batter into pan and bake in middle of oven for 55-60 minutes. Remove and let cool slightly before unmolding. Finish cooling on wire rack.

Fig Cake

1 stick butter, melted
*1 cup sugar
*1 pt. Fig preserves

*1 teaspoon vinegar
1 teaspoon baking soda
*2 eggs
2 cups self rising flour
*1/2 cup milk
*1 cup chopped Louisiana pecans
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Mix together all ingredients and pour into greased tube pan. Bake at 350 degrees until done.

Momma's Fig Preserves

*2 gallons fresh Louisiana Figs
*7 lbs. sugar
1 quart water
Wash and trim figs. Mix sugar with water until dissolved. Bring to full boil over medium heat, stirring until a thin syrup. Add to figs. Cook figs until syrup thickens. Put into clean sterilized jars and seal.

Fig Pudding

1/4 cup butter
*1/2 cup sugar
*1 egg
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
*2 cups chopped dried figs
2 tablespoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
*1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Cream the butter, add the sugar and the well beaten egg. Take out about 2 tablespoons of the flour and mix with the figs. Sift together the remaining flour and the baking powder, salt and add alternately with the milk to the butter and egg mixture. Stir in the flour-coated figs and add the vanilla. Bake in a greased baking dish for about one hour at 350 degrees.
